Message from the Principal

Carry on steadfastly and faithfully the work you have undertaken.

St. Angela Merici

Greetings,

Blessings and Challenges - These two words come to me when I sit, reflect and pray about the ministry of the Academy of Mount St. Ursula. We are still doing what we set out to do in 1855, educating young women and we remain committed to our Ursuline mission. That's the best part of our work here!

We are definitely blessed as can be seen each day in the bright smiling faces of so many of our young women who are studying hard and trying their best to make a difference in our world. Their laughter and excitement when they learn something new, have a great conversation with a friend or teacher or are the recipient of some kind action or gesture is just so joyful to hear.

Having worked in a few schools, I honestly have to say we have some of the most caring and dedicated teachers and staff. They care so much for our students and do all they can to help them succeed. Some paperwork had to be signed by three faculty members so we could apply for a grant and they came to school immediately from their vacation spots before even going home. What is most exciting is the fact that they build relationships with each other and students too!

Another wonderful blessing is the fact that we have so many faithful Ursuline Sisters, alumnae, benefactors and supporters who assist in so many ways. We are eternally grateful and appreciative for your dedication and support. You help us provide a safe environment and the best education we can to prepare the next generation of women for leadership and service in our world. Thank you. Thank you!

While we are very blessed, we also deal with challenges daily. Some of our students come from neighborhoods that deal with violence and drugs. Families are struggling to pay bills and make ends meet. Local Catholic elementary schools are closing. Academically, some of our students aren't as prepared as we would like them to be. Students are suffering from major anxiety and mental stress. We not only have guidance for academic reasons, but also, a social worker to help our students and families learn how to cope with their stressful situations. Tutors are hired to help students after school.

What our school has been built on, our foundation of educating women, is still going strong. This year our 66 seniors earned 20 million dollars in college scholarships. That is outstanding. AMSU is the oldest continuously operating school for girls in New York State and we plan to keep that title!

One of the challenges we are facing is that the physical structure of our school is beginning to show wear and tear. As a reminder, our two building sites were built in 1922 and 1955. The best materials were used then and that sound structure has held us, but now, we need to start investing more and more money into maintenance and upkeep. This summer we were able to start by replacing windows because of your kind support.

In June, we faced an unexpected expense; part of our gym roof is falling down. Therefore, we need a significant amount of funds to repair it. Our gym is constantly in use: physical education classes throughout the day, volleyball, basketball, softball, cheerleading, and STEP team. More students are showing interest in sports. There is talk of adding yoga classes to help with stress management. Every week, there is a New York City official on-site enforcing fire, boiler, elevator, science labs and kitchen regulations. There is always a new rule and something must be updated and fixed. We've recently hired a facilities manager to advise us on how to proceed and keep up with the paperwork, emails and phone calls.

Yes, there are these big challenges, but there are also such great rewards daily. When I get an email from a grateful parent thanking me for helping her daughter become more responsible, listen to a student tell me how she wants to fight injustice in our world, or I hear from an appreciative alumna about how AMSU's education and values helped her be successful in her career and life, I know we have to keep doing all we can for our young women and school community of AMSU.

Our mission at AMSU is a very necessary one and I know with the help of God, St. Angela and all of you, the Academy of Mount St. Ursula will continue to experience blessings and challenges. I'm confident the blessings will continue to outweigh the challenges! After all, AMSU is the best!

Please know you are always welcome to contact me at jhumphries@amsu.org or call 718-364-5353 x211. In addition, the doors of AMSU are always welcome to you. I and our AMSU young women would love to talk with you, share with you about AMSU today and have the opportunity to get to know you and hear about your AMSU experience!

Prayers and blessings,

St. Jean Marie Humphries, osu, PhD, AMSU '89, Principal

Message from the Executive Director of Development

As I sit and write this letter, I feel more blessed than ever to be part of the AMSU family. A family that goes beyond a Catholic high school. A family that is full of love. A family that is always there for each other.

This year was particularly special to me. This is the first time in my professional career of nearly 15 years, where I have been able to directly interact with those we are providing services to daily. I cannot tell you how special it is to be able to directly impact the lives of so many. To really watch them grow into fine young women.

During the year, I received two special notes that I carry with me every day and would like to share with you. I read them often to remind myself that one by one, with every decision that is made, we are impacting our future and the future women leaders of the world. Here are those notes:

I just wanted to wish you a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year! I hope that you have a wonderful time with family, friends and loved ones. I also hope that you have a wonderful New Year's Celebration. You do a lot for the school and it's deeply appreciated. You've also been an amazing addition to my school and my life. It's been a great feeling to know that I have support. So, thank you for everything you've done for me this year by including me in marketing, writing me a recommendation letter, always offering support, and a friendly smile. I really appreciate it and hope to work closely with you next summer.
Katelyn Rosado '19

You are a wonderful leader and person. Thank you so much for all that you've done – I only hope I can return the favor sometime in the future. Thank you for being such a great role model. Thank you for opening my eyes into the world of Marketing. When this idea of the Marketing Club came about, we didn't know what we were doing and then you took us under your wing, with no hesitation, and since then you've never let go. We would not be where we are today without you. Thank you so much for your guidance and useful advice. I will always be grateful to you for your support and kindness.
Dimarie Pagoada '19

Although those notes were written to me, I believe they were made possible because of the generosity of our AMSU family. The success of the Academy of Mount St. Ursula and students would not be possible without the support of our Ursuline Sisters, alumnae, faculty, staff and friends. We are so grateful for your continued support, which enables us to provide a quality education for four years to last a lifetime. I truly thank each of you from the bottom of my heart. It is because of you that we are able to keep our doors open and provide a quality education centered around the Ursuline traditions that are so important and dear to us.

Last year, we held our Hall of Fame Dinner in September. The event supported improvements needed for our building, which will enable our students to continue to be in the greatest learning environment possible and keep our students safe for many years to come. I am thrilled to share that the event was a great success! With your support, we raised more than $325,000. On Thursday, September 19, 2019, from 6-8pm, we will be holding a "THANK YOU" event, to thank all of our supporters who helped us achieve our goal in replacing windows throughout AMSU. The windows will create a safer environment, reduce energy loss, and provide more light throughout the building. Electronic invitations have gone out to all, and you can learn more about the event by contacting the Development Office: 718-733-6249 or alumnae@amsu.org.

I encourage you to reach out to our Development Office, should you be interested in visiting AMSU to see our hardworking students in action, or would like to learn how to get more involved. Our office is always open to our supporters, whom we consider family. You can reach me directly by calling: 718-733-6249 or emailing: jabbatiello@amsu.org.

Once again, thank you for your continued support.

Prayers and blessings,

Jasmin Abbatiello, Executive Director of Development

Mercy College School of Business Leadership Academy:

This summer, three of our rising seniors, Analydia Camacho, Synnie Cao and Dannerys Peralta are participating in the Mercy College School of Business Leadership Academy. The program is highly competitive and welcomes high school students to apply for a chance to attend a week long session at their Westchester campus in Dobbs Ferry, NY.

Rising high school seniors experience college first-hand during this week-long, action-packed summer program. They learn about leadership and business careers from Executive Faculty who have worked at top global companies. They visit Fortune 500 Companies, explore careers in business and participate in team building activities: Bear Mountain hike, Shark Tank and more.

Thanks to one of our generous donors, Carole Kakos '63, also an alumnae of Mercy College, these three students will be able to attend the program at no cost. Many thanks to Carole, and good luck to Analydia, Synnie and Dannerys!

English Department Update

The English Department

was very busy as the last few days of classes were approaching. The teachers had been working on finishing the curriculum and preparing our students for the final exams. Ms. Masick enjoyed using Google classroom this year. It is a great tool to upload notes, assignments, and announcements. Another tool that Ms. Masick has utilized in her classroom is the game, Kahoot. This is an interactive, online game.

The teacher provides the questions and answers, and the students choose the correct answer. Kahoot is a great and fun way to help students prepare for tests. The girls have a great time competing for first place.

English 9 focused on understanding the fundamentals of literature. We discussed how to talk about literature and how to write about literature. English 9 has a very diverse curriculum that ranges from Latin American, African American and Jewish American literature to help give students a broader sense of the literary world. We also worked on the fundamentals of grammar. Ms. Sticklor's English 9 students were exposed to a variety of literary genres. Reading The Motorcycle Diaries, Night, and The Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, showed the destructive nature of intolerance, thus promoting tolerance. In addition, the freshman honors class read two plays by Shakespeare, comparing his comedies and tragedies.

English 10H read texts spanning 1000 years of British literature and worked on either writing a sonnet or acting out a scene from one of the texts. Ms. McAuliffe's English 10, with its focus on British Literature, participated in many carefully crafted debates and Socratic discussions. The students worked on challenging skills like reading comprehension through Regents and SAT prep work and furthered their writing abilities through low-stakes writing assignments and careful development of a literary analysis paper. They also worked on the fundamentals of English grammar.

English 12 and AP English focused largely on getting ready for college. Students focused on higher level discussions which included more concentration on cultural context, historical context, social justice issues and philosophical ideas. Students learned how to write a college level research paper while examining the Modernist and Post Modernist literary lens in great detail.

Math Department Update

The 2018-2019 school year is already over.....where does the time go? Just a couple of weeks ago the Mathematics Department was busy preparing the Algebra, Geometry and Algebra II classes for the Common Core New York State Regents exams. Every teacher offered review classes and practice regents exams to help our students achieve a higher score on these rigorous assessments.

In other classes, students have been working on projects and presentations. The Seniors in AP Calculus, Applied Mathematics and Pre-Calculus have studied various topics in Mathematics from Mayan/Babylonian numbers to writing problems about half-life elements and presenting them in greeting card format. In every presentation, students incorporate an oral report along with the technology listed below.

With available Chrome Books, students have many technological resources at their fingertips, such as:

Nearpod

Plickers

Kahoot

Khan Academy

Math Bits

Google Classroom

Google Classroom

Flip Classroom

The Math department uses e-math instruction in Algebra II and in one section of Algebra I. Each lesson in every unit is being taught by Kirk Weiler and students regularly watch the video for homework and work on the problems during class.

Online Learning

A new stream-lined learning platform called Albert.io that the Mathematics department piloted in the spring. It is similar to Khan Academy but focuses on providing more rigorous practice, needed for AP courses and also offers some courses that are not available through Castle Learning, a program used at AMSU. Moving forward, following the positive response during the trial period, AMSU has committed to a license.

Our hope for all students, despite their ability, is to be critical thinkers who see the value of mathematics and its connection to the real world.

Science Department Update

NEW CURRICULUM IN THE SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Biology

Biology students learned about the interrelationships of the various organ systems and the role each system plays in maintaining homeostasis. In the lab, students recreated the cellular membrane with experiments on diffusion and osmosis and created models of the structure of DNA. Students learned about enzymes and the importance of biological catalysts in higher organisms and plants. One of their labs consisted of comparing guard cells in leaves of different plants. Other experiments performed included the beaks of Finches and the physiology of the circulatory system.

This year students learned the history of the struggle to cure ovarian cancer, a story that includes important work by a woman scientist. We looked at this because one of the New York State Regents-required labs is built around an imaginary plant “Curol,” with no background included in the lab on its true inspiration. The lab is based on the discovery of the plant chemical Taxol, isolated from the bark of the Pacific Yew. The class learned about plant-based medicines, how regular surveys are undertaken by pharmaceutical companies to find new anti-tumor compounds, and the testing of the Taxol molecule by Dr. Susan Band Horwitz. Students also discussed the search for a related plant molecule after it was found that Taxol is effective against ovarian cancer, but that there were insufficient natural sources, and the ultimate genetic engineering of a Taxol source. Learning these things made the lab more meaningful. It also related back to lessons in mitosis, genetic engineering, and the reproductive system.

Chemistry

Practical reinforcement of topics pertaining to the Regents Chemistry curriculum was conducted in the Chemistry Lab. Among the labs was the Flame Tests Lab which gave students an understanding of electron transitions and emission spectra. An investigation of Physical and Chemical Changes Lab allowed students to differentiate between these two changes and reinforce understanding of physical and chemical properties. The Chemistry labs provide students with the necessary “hands-on” skills in the lab especially in the handling of chemicals and glassware.

Earth Science

In Earth Science, students did a project based on one long multi-graph article from the New York Times, "How Does Your State Make Energy?" Students were free to pick a few states, read about their changing energy sources, and then research a presentation on a topic that related tangentially to the article. Students worked in groups and presented to the class. Some of the topics presented were: Nuclear Waste, Generating Power from Ocean Waves, and a Comparison of Air Pollution Sources in the US and China.

Forensic Science

Forensic Science is a senior elective course which covers the purpose of collecting, processing and understanding evidence with regards to the field of criminal justice. Students were asked to analyze and reconstruct famous crime scenes, understand blood splatter and hair/fiber analysis. Additional topics covered included: Serology, Toxicology, Microscopy, Fingerprinting and Crime Scene Facial Reconstruction.

Anatomy and Physiology

In Anatomy and Physiology labs the students used human torso models as well as prepared cell and tissue slides and their own cheek cell slides to study the human body. Labs included the use of a blood typing kit as part of a discussion of antigens and antibodies, and tests of different foods for nutrients.

AP Biology

Students in AP Biology studied water potential and tonicity in cells, made microscopic comparisons of cell types and tissues as they relate to form and function, and studied the events of mitosis and meiosis in plant and animal cells. Students surveyed the plant and animal kingdoms, phylogeny and the classification systems, plant and animal physiology, ecology and molecular biology. They explored cell respiration using the gas laws. They studied the physiology of the circulatory system, including systolic/diastolic pressure, with the aid of a stethoscope and sphygmomanometer.

Congratulations to Melissa Feliciano '19! During the summer of her junior year she attended Manhattan College Summer Engineering Awareness Program. For more than 35 years, the Summer Engineering Awareness Program has introduced high school students to careers in engineering, math and science.

The 10-day program allowed Melissa to learn about the different disciplines of engineering through hands-on experiments in laboratories and class lectures. The program also provided a structural team competition in which they separated into groups to build a structure that can hold a certain number of phone books. At the end, they competed with other groups to see whose structures held the most phone books without breaking. Melissa will be attending Manhattan College this Fall.

Technology Department Update

We are thrilled to welcome back Regina Ward class of 1993, as the new Technology Teacher and Technology Department chairperson. AMSU has always been an integral part in the lives of Regina and her family. Both of her sisters, Angela Redman '86, and Luniece Ward '04, are alumnae of the school as well as her two daughters, Niara Mitchell '15 and Janae Mitchell '18. Since 2016 Regina has maintained a presence here as the moderator for the Step Team as well as the Tech Club.

She has nearly 20 years of experience teaching technology and is a Certified Microsoft Office Master Instructor. She joins us from the College Board, which inspired her to come back and teach AP Computer Science Principles.

- This year, we launched our 1 to 1 Chromebook initiative. Each student now has a Chromebook that they take with them from class to class. Rather than carrying heavy textbooks, our students can access their e-textbooks on the Chromebooks. Also, teachers can use web activity easily with students
- The school participated in the nationwide Hour of Code movement during spirit week in December. We had a third of the students participate which, for many, was the first time they had ever coded.
- AMSU offered a new technology course called AP Computer Science Principles (AP CSP). AP CSP is a new Advanced Placement course designed to give students foundational computing skills, an understanding of the real-world impact of computing applications, and programming literacy. This is only the third year of the course's existence which makes AMSU a pioneer for offering the course.
- The Academy of Mount St. Ursula is pleased to announce that it has been selected as an Amazon Future Engineer (AFE) school - a partnership between Amazon and Edhesive to improve access to computer science education in communities currently underrepresented in the technology field. As a part of the program for the 2019-20 school year, the Academy of Mount St. Ursula will be able to offer more computer science courses and tech-focused career activities.

Library and Media Department Update

From September 26, through September 30, 2018, our Library and Media Specialist, Ms. Jhenelle Robinson attended the 3rd Annual National Joint Conference of Librarians of Color (JCLC) in Albuquerque, New Mexico. She was one of the recipients of three travel grants sponsored by The Office for Diversity, Literacy and Outreach Services of the American Librarian Association. The grant provided $1,000 for travel, housing and registration for the 2018 JCLC. For more information on the conference, please visit <http://www.jclcinc.org>.

JCLC gathers a large, diverse group of librarians, library staff, and library supporters from across the United States and Canada to explore issues of diversity, inclusion and equity in libraries. All fields of librarianship were present including academic, public, school, religious, and medical.

During the conference Ms. Robinson was given the opportunity to network, learn, share, and career build. She attended many sessions that highlighted ways in which she can effectively teach young adults in a school library setting. Ms. Robinson also had the opportunity to volunteer at the JCLC store and contribute to the American Library Association's Instagram page, highlighting her experience at the conference.

In addition to the conference, Ms. Robinson had the opportunity to sightsee a few points of interests in New Mexico including the Sandia Mountains (via tram) and the San Felipe de Neri Roman Catholic Church, one of the oldest surviving buildings in Albuquerque.

She is truly thankful for the opportunity to attend JCLC!

Religion Department Update

The Religious Studies Department of the Academy of Mount St. Ursula is tasked with promoting, through its various academic and other activities, the Catholic Identity of our school community. To achieve this, the AMSU Religious Studies Department continues to devote itself to the following activities:

Special Highlights

- Mass was celebrated throughout the year starting with Mass of the Holy Spirit, Feast Day of St. Ursula, All Saints' Day, Immaculate Conception, Feast Day of St. Angela Merici, during Holy Week, Ascension Thursday and the graduation Liturgy.
- Interfaith Thanksgiving Prayer Service led by Angela Ward Redman '86.
- The Religious Studies department teachers led the recitation of the Holy Rosary during lunch breaks (daily) during the Marian months of October and May.
- The school community observed the lighting of the Advent Wreath as a community and held observance rituals.

- This year we had 10 strong, faith-filled young ladies who are proud of their Catholic faith and are prepared to live it out in a world that is in SO much need of women who are courageously willing to share their faith with others! Congratulations to Naya De Oleo '19, who was baptized and received her First Eucharist and Confirmation during the Ascension Thursday Mass. Arlene Almonte '22, Jamilex Cespedes '21, Maily De La Rosa '22, Marianna Hernandez '21, Yasmeli Jones '22, Nicole Medina '22, Jaleesa Ortega '22, Jada Torres '22, and Krisna Rivera '22 also received the Sacrament of Confirmation during mass.

By the end of the 2018-2019 school year, the girls of the Academy of Mount St. Ursula logged over 14,720 service hours.

Art Department Update

As the year winds down, there has been a flurry of art activity here at the school. Three of our students, Rebecca Garcia '19, Deanna Espinoza '20, and Kimberly Ruiz '21 participated in the CYO Archdiocesan Art Competition. We would like to congratulate Rebecca for winning 3rd place in its Elite Division. On May 10, we held our second annual Fashion Show and Art Expo, where several of our students showcased their paintings, drawings, photography, and animations. We were also treated to a beautiful runway show by the Fashion Club and an exciting performance by the Step Team. This year also marks the graduation of the first students to complete a full 4 years of Animation Class, Mia Daugherty '19 and Gabrielle Valentin '19.

Message from a Grateful Parent

Dear Sr. Jeannie,

Four years ago, you gave Francesca a chance by accepting her into AMSU and it has been the best experience for her.

During Freshman year, I attended an evening session geared towards summer opportunities for students. This is where I first heard of the Fordham University Science Technology Entry Program (STEP). All the required documentation and recommendations from teachers and the guidance counselor were submitted and Francesca was accepted. After the summer, she continued throughout the school year on Saturdays and is still there to date. Through this program she has expanded her network, visited several colleges and universities, interned in the Fordham Office of Students with Disabilities, received a POSSE scholarship nomination and obtained a letter of recommendation as well.

During Sophomore year one of the opportunities offered was for a Saturday workshop titled, Girls Write Now, held near the World Trade Center. This session, besides focusing on a writing component, emphasized female empowerment.

Junior year, Francesca became a Vocalist and continued in Musical Theatre. She enjoyed the camaraderie with everyone and this past summer started the recruiting process trying to enlist boys from Fordham Prep for The Little Mermaid this spring. One of the opportunities available to Junior parents focused on the college process. This session, spearheaded by the guidance counselors, offered a written time line by month of what should be taking place and it was excellent. I reviewed every month and reminded my daughter. This helped keep her on track and with the help of Ms. O'Hare, Francesca applied to every school by October 31st.

Last week when the opportunities email was received to attend a pre-medical conference at Weill Cornell, Francesca rushed to get one of the ten spots available. When she returned home from an all day session, she was very excited and shared her experiences with me. One of the workshops had the students discussing the declining grades of a middle school boy and different scenarios in the boy's life. They all came up with several conclusions from drugs, smoking, and negative influences. The outcome was that the boy needed glasses. Although it wasn't what they expected, they were challenged. It made them think and work together and also realize not to judge immediately but to do the research.

Francesca loves AMSU and to hear a child express love for their school is touching. As we visit different colleges and universities Francesca has expressed disappointment if a tour guide is not enthusiastic. She shared with me that she loves to participate in the AMSU Open Houses because she loves her school and wants to share everything great about it with others because this will attract new students.

A great school begins with leadership and Sr. Jeannie your dedication to the WHOLE child is exemplary. The young woman and families at AMSU are blessed to have you. The opportunities you share with us I'm sure have helped many students besides Francesca. The dedication that the teachers and guidance counselors exhibit every day comes from this great and safe environment.

I constantly remind Francesca that when she has her career, donating to AMSU is a must. This will ensure the future of the school and the opportunity of others to have FOURS YEARS TO LAST A LIFETIME!

With deep appreciation,

Mayra Bernard

Francesca will attend Utica College in the Fall.
Her sister, Gabriella Bernard will be joining
AMSU as a member of the class of 2023.

Where our graduates are headed . . .

School Happenings

International Night

International Night was held on November 16, 2018. Over 150 students were involved in the show, including three acts from Cardinal Hayes High School. Special highlights included: the AMSU Vocalists singing the African Zulu Song “Siyahamba” (Marching in the Light of God) and the Cardinal Hayes Latin Jazz Band playing two fantastic numbers! There were 300 people in attendance.

Graduation Liturgy

Ice Cream Social

AMSU Day

Lady Bear Boutique Opening

Ring Day

Character Day

This year's Spring Musical was Disney's The Little Mermaid, which had a four day run from April 4th-April 7th. The first performance was a special Final Dress Rehearsal for grades 3, 4 and 5 from Our Lady of Refuge Elementary School, St. Brendan's Elementary School and St. Philip Neri Elementary School. Such a fun time! A memorable moment from the day was when the entire audience sang along with our lead actress, Shakira Deleon '19, (Ariel), during her performance of the famous song "Part of Your World."

Right before the opening of Saturday night's show an amplifier blew out in our AMSU sound system! But as the saying goes, "The show must go on!" To this day the cast, crew and audience members still say that it was our best show yet - the day AMSU performed "Unplugged."

AMSU 2nd Annual Prom Dress Drive

Thank you to everyone who participated!!

Prom 2019

The Class of 2019 Prom was held on Thursday, May 23, at the Glen Island Casino in New Rochelle, NY.

Marketing Club – Captain Marvel Campaign.

AMSU's Marketing Club recently achieved their goal for the #CaptainMarvelChallenge by taking the entire school population to see Captain Marvel on March 27, 2019. It was a great lesson in viral marketing, fundraising, and teamwork for the young women during Women's Empowerment Month. The idea started as an inspiration from the Black Panther Challenge that was seen all over social media in 2018 as the excitement for the movie's premiere increased. The Marketing Club decided they would like to do a similar campaign for Captain Marvel, the first woman-led Marvel film in the now decade-long Marvel Cinematic Universe.

Instead of raising just enough funds to get their club to see Captain Marvel, the Marketing Club wanted the entire school to accompany them. They believed it was important for all their fellow AMSU students to see such a historic movie. It was very exciting to aspire to a more ambitious goal, and the chance to say they were the reason students didn't have to go to class for a day certainly gave them greater motivation. With the help and support of Modern Language Chairperson, Ms. Linda Peri, the Executive Director of Development, Jasmin Abbatiello, Marketing Consultant, Frederick Joseph, Development Associates, Doris Balbuena and Mitch Turner, and our Principal, Sr. Jean Marie Humphries, osu, PhD, AMSU '89, the students designed the GoFundMe page and shared it with their friends and family across social media.

As the campaign picked up steam, news outlets such as TicToc by Bloomberg Network, News12 Bronx, and Bronx Times, noticed the young women's efforts and featured them on their shows and in their newspapers. The attention created by the efforts of the AMSU students culminated in actress Eva Longoria donating the final $2,000 to achieve the $10,000 goal! What started as a simple idea by a handful of students in the Marketing Club turned into a great example of what hard work and commitment to an idea can bring to our students!

Faculty Appreciation Day

On Faculty Appreciation Day at the Academy of Mount St. Ursula, the administration paid special tribute to the faculty members who celebrated milestone anniversaries during the 2018-2019 school year. The Academy of Mount St. Ursula thanks and congratulates each of them for their years of commitment and service to the education of many students throughout their careers at the school.

Good evening Ms. Abbatiello and Mr. Turner,

I know that I already wrote a thank you letter to my donors before the end of the school year, however, I would like to say thank you once again to Mr. and Mrs. Cronin, Mr. and Mrs. Houlihan, and my anonymous donor for all their help. I would also like to extend another thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Cronin and Mr. and Mrs. Houlihan for their amazing gifts. I just want to make sure that my donors' help and gifts do not go without notice. I would also like to say thank you to the development office for all your help in getting me these donors. It has been an amazing four years here at AMSU, and I hope one day I will be able to help other students as my donors helped me. Thank you once again and have a great summer.

Young Alumnae Luncheon

Career Day

Congratulations to Maureen Sheehan Kern '67, former AMSU General Science, Biology, and General Chemistry teacher from 1972 to 1977. Ms. Kern was also the Coach of AMSU's basketball team, from 1972 to 1985. Even after her departure from AMSU, she continued working and remained active and supportive to AMSU, through the Catholic High School Athletic Association. Maureen always worked to connect the Academy of Mount St. Ursula and The Ursuline School athletic teams by organizing scrimmages and activities for the girls to meet their "Ursuline" sisters.

After a long successful career as the Athletic Director of the Ursuline School in New Rochelle, NY, Maureen, was honored on June 4, 2019, just before her retirement at the end of the school year. During the dinner, Maureen was also recognized by the Westchester County Board of Legislators, by proclaiming June 5, 2019, as Maureen Kern Day.

1982

Lynda Mulligan McGoeys '82 ran the NYC Marathon this past November. Her former classmates and close friends, Patricia Sipos '82 and Joanie Bauert '82, were there supporting and cheering her on.

Congratulations Linda!

Elza Zagreda '87, returned to her alma mater this past March and shared with the students the comedy, "Growing Up Fat and Albanian" which she wrote, directed, produced and played a part in. She also shared her appreciation for her AMSU education, which helped her have a voice and confidence to be and do what was her passion and desire. Elza was happy to see Ms. DeLaurentis and Ms. Corticcio too. Our students laughed, had fun, and also learned.

1991

Congratulations to Amy Figueroa Mercado '91!! She was re-elected as the State Rep. at the Florida House of Representatives for Orlando District 48 this past November. Amy has an extensive record working with her local community to better the lives of her constituents. She is another example of our graduates living out our SERVIAM motto by giving back. We couldn't be prouder of Amy!!

1992

Angelina Delgado '92, was recently honored for her 20 years of global service in Public Affairs. Angelina is currently the Senior Director of Finance and Administration at Baruch College, City University of New York and among her many accomplishments, has led the expansion of the Austin W. Marxe of Public and International Affairs Global Exchange Program. The program offers opportunities throughout Europe and Asia. She is currently working on her PhD at the CUNY Graduate Center.

2005

Destiny Cruz '05, was recently named Field Representative & Caseworker at U. S. House of Representatives, for Rep. Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez.

2014

The UN Commission on the Status of Women CSW63 took place from March 11th through March 22nd. We were blessed to have AMSU alumna Anita Benn '14, help during the Orientation.

2018

While on winter break, Nyasha Francis '18, visited AMSU. She stopped by Dr. Tiwari's Physics class and spoke about her experience during her first semester of college! Congratulations to Nyasha on completing her first year at Clark Atlanta University.

It's great to see our alumnae living out Serviam! While on winter break, Samantha Paulino '18, Priscilla Soto '18, along with Sr. Elisa Ryan, OSU, shared with the Ursuline Sisters at St. Teresa's Community in New Rochelle about their Service Project during the summer at Haven for Hope in San Antonio, Texas, a full-service homeless shelter.

Reunion 2019

On Saturday, April 13, 2019, the Academy of Mount St. Ursula hosted its Annual Alumnae Reunion, honoring classes ending in 4 and 9. The event this year was held at the Greentree Country Club, in New Rochelle. Reunion 2019 was a great success! It was a great turnout. We were happy to welcome back more than 150 alumnae!
